Crime succeeds by sudden despatch; honest counsels gain vigor by delay.—Tacitus.

Those ancients often hit it right. yet their wise sayings often need exceptions to prove the rule. An exception to the foregoing sentiment is to be found in the failure of the P. G.'s redhot despatch of Commissioners to Washington.

THE AUGUSTA DIPLOMAT.

Both the morning and evening organs of the P. G. and the Annexation Club republish a speech delivered by Hon. John L. Stevens, late Minister to Hawaii, on his return to his native town of Augusta, Maine. It is in general a manifesto of paramount control claimed and exercised over the Hawaiian Islands by the United States for half a century, and in particular an attempted defense by Mr. Stevens of his conduct in connection with the revolution of January last. While nobody can rewarded by the revolutionary "best deny that the United States has from 1843 refused to commit herself to any compact with other Powers regarding the independence of Ha- offices in their gift. The headquartwaii, it is equally true that the policy of the United States has for deed in the Bureau of Information, the greater part of that period been to respect and encourage Hawaiian Thurston, leader of the annexation independence. The great trouble with all of Mr. Stevens' post- P. G. to Washington. ' It was the official utterances thus far has been that they have stopped short of telling the whole truth. He evades writing for the lottery propaganda. the charges against him of unjusti- It is time this huge hypocrisy about fiable interferences in Hawaiian affairs from the very beginning of his incumbency as Minister. His offen-tors. sive speech to the Queen at her accession, his insulting reflections on the Hawaiian form of government on Memorial Day, his several screaming Fourth of July prophecies of the downfall of monarchies in general and the Hawaiian dynasty in particular, and his discourtesy to the Queen and Cabinet in the lost ship member, Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures. Campbell incident, are treated with discreet silence by Mr. Stevens. In the last-mentioned case he demanded of the Cabinet an interview with Her Majesty without the customary When he gained the demanded royal audience he assailed the Queen ruds-sions of opinion in a newspaper that was, according to common talk reaching his ears, partly owned by Her Majesty. No Minister accredited to a friendly government ever piled up such a record of offensive conduct as Minister Stevens had done long before the events of January.

Even in what he purports to particularize-the immediate circumstances of the revolution-Mr. Stevens reveals only such facts as suit significance of these with a construction they will not bear. For instance, take the following note, signed by the Queen and countersigned by her four Ministers, received by Mr. Stevens on the 17th of January, the date it bears:

The assurance conveyed by a royal proclamation by myself and ministers yesterday having been received by my native subjects, and by them ratified at a mass meeting, was re-ceived in a different spirit by the meeting representing the foreign population and interests in my kingdom. It is now my desire to give your excellency as the diploma-tic representative of the United States of America at my court, the solemn assurance that the present constitution will be upheld by me and my ministers, and no changes will be made except by the method therein provided. I desire to ex-press to your excellency this assur-ance in the spirit of that friendship which has ever existed between my kingdom and that of the govern-ment of the United States of America, and which I trust will long This note the ex-Minister chooses to call an "earnestly-pleading document from the fallen monarch and the terror-stricken lottery gang." The Honolulu organs chime in aud attach importance to the document in their favor, one of them saving actments, justice would have been in their favor, one of them saying "it completely overthrows the ultimate argument upon which the royalists now depend, and which was not set up by them, until some time after the revolution, as an afterthought." Taking the latter part of this observation first, it is nothing more or less than a flippant falsehood. From the very first, after the revolution, the Queen and her advisers enjoined her sympathizers to be quiet and patient until the Government of the United States should have received and acted upon the Queen's protest against the revolution aided and abetted by the United States representatives with the forces at their disposal. How the document "completely overthrows" the Queen's case now pending before the United States Government is something utterly incomprehensible to any sane judgment. On the face of it, taking the most obvious and, in fact, the only admissible meaning of the language, the ple to induce them to remain document is inconsistent with anything but the Queen's claim that the United States had practically seized ers with a spirited sketch of whaling the country. Why else should she facile pen of Mr. Charles H. Ewart, United States Minister the assurance berg is now prepared to show a large contained in the document? The and well assorted line of samples in United States troops were still on shore, twenty hours after their landing as the Minister says. There was | French Piques. A call will convince no Government but that of the Queen in existence, when the note was written or when it was received. The document contains a recognition of the fact, later protested against by the Queen, that her Government was menaced by the presence of United States troops. Mr. Stevens has simply blundered into giving an additional piece of evidence against himself and in favor of the Queen.

When Mr. Stevens repeats his abusive language about "the lottery gang," he only revamps the pious fraud exploded here and in the United States time and again. The whole strength and sinews of war of the lottery gang, outside of the misguided votes in the Legislature, rested in the ranks of the annexation party. Several of its most prominent and active promoters have been government the islands ever had," according to Mr. Stevens' estimate, with some of the most lucrative ers of the lottery conspiracy was inat the head of which was L. A. coup d' etat and now Minister of the Secretary of Mr. Thurston's Bureau of Information who did all the paid the lottery was stopped in the mouths of the annexation conspira-

Concerning S. E. Bishop.

EDITOR BULLETIN: It is with no intention of supplementing your able editorial com-ment on the letter of the Rev. S. E. Bishop in your impression of last evening—it would be a work of supererogation to do so—but as an American who is justly proud of the chivalric courtesy that his countrymen, with but few exceptions, extend to women, I ask leave to address these lines to Mr. Bishop, lest it be thought that all Americans acquiesce in the published abuse of a defenseless woman by this reverend 394 Tons Drapery Remaining!

It is time he was unmasked: it is time that such a travesty upon common manhood, decency, and honor, was held up to the "cold gaze of curious scorn." It is known in this community, and it should be blazoned in letters of fire abroad, that this viper, who, beneath the protection of his Christian title and his gray hairs, vilifies with the coarsest of cowardly innuendos a woman whose name has ever been synonymous with the broadest of practical Chris-tian charity toward the base wretch who now traduces her-a woman who has suffered with dignity and silence the temporary loss of her throne and kingdom, and has quietly submitted to the base and unfounded slanders of the unconvicted thieves who robbed her—I say it should be known of all men that the Rev. Bishop has his name in the Police Court records of Honolulu, where he was found guilty of cruelty to animals, for having brutally stabbed a horse with a surveyor's instrument. Think of it! This preacher of God's word, who is so shocked at the rumored sins of a woman, yet is low enough to abuse one of God's creatures! Why, in America such a degraded fellow would have been stripped of the office and the garb he so disgraced and have been clad in the striped garments of the lowest felon, and, I may add, before the advent of Henry meted out to such a hard-hearted wretch at the end of a taut rope. This defamer of womanhood. moreover, has the reputation of being a man of profane lips. I do not believe, either, that the Rev. Bishop can, alone in the presence of his soul and his God, say truthfully that he is qualified, according to the Messiah's standard, to throw a stone at a man, much less a woman. His aspect is against him. And while reviling the Queen for signing the lottery bill, will he kindly explain why he does not as publicly censure our present sainted rulers for putting the most zealous advocates of that measure into office? Among their other appointments is Superintendent Brown of the Water Works, known as the most persistent lobbyist for the lottery bill during the last legislature. Is it because Mr. Bishop is afraid he will not realize upon his landed investments below the embryo Pearl City that he stoops to slander to gain his ends? Really, if this fellow is a fair sample of the genus "missionary," he should be held up to the gaze of all unconverted heathens as a horrible exam-

German Syrup"

-Mississippi, written in April, 1890, just after the Grippe had visited that country. "I am a farmer, one of those who have to rise early and work late. At the beginning of last Winter I was on a trip to the City of Vicksburg, Miss., where I got well drenched in a shower of rain. I went home and was soon after seized with a dry, hacking cough. This grew worse every day, until I had to seek relief. I consulted Dr. Dixon who has since died, and he told me to get a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. Meantime my cough grew worse and worse and then the Grippe came along and I caught that also very severely. My condition then compelled me to do something. I got two bottles of German Syrup. I began using them, and before taking much of the second bottle, I was entirely clear of the Cough that had hung to me so long, the Grippe, and all its bad effects. I felt tip-top and have felt that way ever since." PETER J. BRIALS, Jr., Cayuga, Hines

Saturday, July 15, 1893.

This week we provide the means for additional happiness in your homes. It's an odd season of the year in which to increase our stock of goods but as the public insists upon decreasing it, we must

We think we have quite the best Wood Churn you ever used to make butter in. We have not handled wood churns before, preferring to sell the American Wonder, a metal machine that makes good butter in four minutes, but the demands of ranch people who want a churn that will make a larger quantity of the golden hued elegance warrants our importing these. They're in two styles-cylinder and bar-

If people knew the advan-tages of the Washing Machine over the conventional hand methods there would be more of them sold. We've sold a dozen perhaps in the last six months, sold out in fact, and we have imported more to accommodate people who want to get ninety percent of work out of their servants on wash days. The Western Washer that we sell is a boon to people with children.

The Commissioner of Agriculture has arranged with us to accept our orders on him for the Insecticide Wash so that in future, instead of sending the ingredients to the nursery, whenever the wash is required, we merely send an order. We have, in consequence of this arrangement, imported a number of celebrated Lewis' Combination Spray Pumps, the acknowledged superior to all other pumps. If you are at all anxious to preserve the foliage on your trees, the means are provided to do so. Do you ever have any trouble with your hose? Sometimes it breaks, and unless you are up to date in repairing it, your hose is worthless. To help you economize in United States, and should meet with the same cordial reception here. The cost is trifling. When your hose breaks come to us for a Kempshall Mender. During the past year, we have had a half dozen different varieties of Lawn Sprinklers, each new one was an improve-ment on its predecessor. By the "Australia" we have what seems to be the very best of at the same price as the others.

We have earned the reputation of keeping the largest as-sortment of House Furnishing Goods in this market so that to add a large stock of English Toilet Sets merely adds to the good things we have in the store and which you need.

We have several kinds of Rat Traps, one the Little Giant that catches one at a time, and the French sort that takes from five to a dozen at one setting. It's economy to buy the latter.

We've had wonderful success with several specialties we have introduced, notably with the Hendry Breakers and Hendry Rice Plows. The Breakers are in use on nearly every plantation on the Islands, and the Rice Plows have the bulge on the public taste. So as to be in close touch with the people on Hawaii, we have constituted MR. C. L. WIGHT, of Mahukona, our Agent for the Kohala district. He is thoroughly familiar with the weak points in other plows, and can explain to customers just why the Hendry Plows are superior to any other kind. Orders through him from people in the Kohala district will be promptly filled.
